

We invite you to a Quoll Discovery Day

Photo: John McCann

Have you ever seen a spotted-tailed quoll?
*Now here's your chance!

Come and meet one at the Ballandean Soccer Club Hall, Ballandean
Corner of New England Hwy and Currs Rd, nr Stanthorpe

Sunday 29 August 10am – 1.00pm

Meet a live spotted-tailed quoll with Martin from Geckoes Wildlife Presentations.

Leading quoll researcher Dr Scott Burnett will present his latest studies, discuss the role of the local community in conservation and respond to your questions.

Local ranger Jo McLellan will update us about recent quoll sightings in the area. The Granite Belt is one of their last strongholds in southern Queensland.

Bernadette Hayes from Ballandean State School will show us the school's new quoll-proof poultry pen and we'll tell you how you can help protect your chickens from predators.

Morning tea will be served by the Ballandean School Community. Donations welcome.

RSVP: quoll@wildlife.org.au or phone Ewa on 3221 0194