

Christmas Appeal 2009

Dear Friends

Let me share with you what Wildlife Queensland has achieved in the past year with your help.

- Our community engagement projects focusing on quolls, gliders and platypus have been shared across Queensland from north to south and presented to various groups such as scouts, schools, landcare and catchment groups.
- We continue to take our conservation message to the community through our displays at events such as David Fleay Platypus Day, Threatened Species Day, Girl Guides Centenary, University of Queensland Orientation Week, Greenfest, local shows and more.
- Successful campaigns have included stock routes retained, Inskip Harbour development stopped, some benefits for the koala and at least some protection for regrowth.
- Our campaigns team has lodged 40+ submissions with governments on a wide variety of topics from shark fishing to the Traveston Dam.
- We have lobbied against inappropriate development at the Walsh River, Atherton and Rocky Springs, Townsville.

The Society has had valuable input to government decision-making by participating on committees, working groups and meeting with the Premier, Ministers and senior bureaucrats on issues ranging from feral animal control, wildlife protection to leasehold land management.

We have brought attention to the issues surrounding wildlife and its habitat by at least 120 appearances in print media, radio interviews and through television coverage which has been disseminated throughout the state.

We are making progress but need to keep on fighting for every hectare of habitat to ensure that more of our wildlife does not reach the brink of extinction. We need to not only continue to raise awareness in the Queensland community about wildlife but also enlist their aid in the fight.

We can not continue this valuable work without your support. This Christmas, make a generous tax-deductible donation to Wildlife Queensland. We wish you and your family a safe and joyful Christmas and a peaceful 2010.

Simon Baltais, President, Wildlife Preservation Society of Queensland
